Other Two-wheel News:

- ❖ The 2012 Outdoor Motocross season is going strong. In the 450 class, Ryan Dungey and the KTM team are working great together and leading the championship. This is a first for KTM in the Motocross standings, and Dungey is looking strong to keep this position throughout the series. I am looking for a number 1 plate for KTM! The 250 class has had great racing action with Bagget, Barcia, Tomac, and Roczen fighting for the top 4 spots. Bagget currently has the points lead with Barcia close behind. Look here for scheduled viewing times (TV SCHEDULE)
- ❖ The 2012 MotoGP season has been a good one to watch. Jorge Lorenzo is still leading the championship. The races come to the US for July and August with races this weekend at Laguna Seca in CA, and August 19 at Indy. James Ellison has been fighting for the top CRT spots. He was able to complete the LeMans race as the first CRT. These past few races, he has been fighting for top 4. It is a challenge to keep up with the factory bikes. James will be in Texas after Laguna Seca until he leaves for Indy. We are looking to get him out for some Trials a couple of days. Additional information, standings, and results can be found on-line - <http://www.motogp.com/>
- ❖ The 2012 Endurocross season has been going strong. The 3rd round of the series was part of the 2012 X Games. Trials riders have really been excelling in Endurocross. Taddy Blazusiak is leading the men's class. Louise Forsley is currently 2nd in the Womens class. Louise took home the Silver medal in her first ever X Games appearance. Additional information, standings, and results can be found on-line - <http://www.endurocross.com/>
